DCHS Today

Door County Humane Society opened its doors in 1999 and has expanded to provide care for the county's growing animal population. DCHS serves every Door County community and cares for hundreds of animals each year. DCHS staff and volunteers provide a safe haven for lost, abandoned or homeless animals and works to reunite the animals with their owners or place them in loving new homes. DCHS provides pre-and post-adoption counseling, humane education services for prospective families and cremation services.

Animals in our care enjoy clean and comfortable accommodations.

When necessary, the orphaned animals receive first-rate veterinary care from local veterinarians.

DCHS is staffed by dedicated humane animal welfare professionals. To keep operations running smoothly, the shelter relies on a devoted network of more than 50 volunteers who lend a hand when needed.

Give

Door County Humane Society is a not-for-profit organization which exists almost entirely on private donations. Only 4% to 5% of our funding comes from public sources. Providing care for the animals that come into our shelter is a round the clock operation, every day of the year. We work hard to make every animal comfortable and happy during their stay with us. Our important work could not be done without the support of our volunteers and donors.

You can help DCHS by making a tax-deductible gift or remembering DCHS in your estate plans. Donations can easily be made on our website, www.dooranimals.com. Please help in any way you can; we and the animals appreciate it.

DCHS membership demonstrates your commitment to ending animal cruelty and neglect. Your support towards our spay/neuter and educational endeavors help make Door County a better place for all companion animals.
